IRANIAN ARMY WILL FIGHT TO LAST MAN

Minister of War at Tehran Plans to Present Question Again to UNO Security Council

ANXIETY IN LONDON

By JOSEPH GOODWIN

Tehran, March 14—(Delayed)—(AP)—Gen. Ahmed Sepehbod Amir Ahmedi, minister of war, said today the Iranian army was "ready to fight to the last man" if Russian troops move toward Tehran from Karaj(20 miles northwest of here, where he said trainloads of troops and amunition are arriving nightly.

The shah, he said, plans to present the Iranian question again to the United Nations Security Council, which will meet in New York City later this month.

Ahmedi said the Russian garrison at Karaj had been "increased fourfold" and that there were "three times as many Russians in Azerbiajan as a month ago."

He termed the reported concentration of troops and equipment a "definite threat to Tehran" and added that all necessary precautions were being taken to meet it.

The general said that Iranians would not "go out to meet the Russians or even erect fortifications outside the city"

London, March 15—(AP)—Britain considers that the reported Russian troop movements in Iran are a part of a "war of nerves" and attributes the tension to the Soviet breach of the agreement to withdraw from the country by last March 2, qualified diplomatic sources reported today.

These sources said the British take the position that one of the consequences of Soviet troops remaining in Iran is that any reports of troop movements inevitably give rise to every kind of anxiety.

A foreign office spokesman said most of the government's information on troop movements came from the U. S. state department.

"All I can say," he concluded, "is that Russian troops are in Iran and they should not be there."

He said Britain would be unable to judge whether Soviet policy in the Middle East is aggressive or defensive until a reply is received from the British note to Moscow asking a Russian explanation.

A dispatch from Canberra quoted high Australian government circles as stating that the British concurred with a view expressed before the Australian parliament by Herbert V. Evatt, minister of external affairs, that Australia regarded Russian policy as defensive.

The foreign office spokesman here, however, said he could not go beyond the public statements of Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin in the United Nations Security Council and in the house of commons expressing British views on Russian policy.

Bevin told Andrei Vishinsky, Russian deputy foreign commissar in the Security Council that "incessant propaganda" from Russia was stirring up trouble and he told the house of commons he had offered Russia a 30-year extension of the Soviet-British friendship treaty.

President Encourages Hope Situation Will Take Turn

Washington, March 15—(AP)—President Truman encouraged hope today that troubled international relations will take a turn for the better.

He said he does not consider the current situation as fraught with danger, as many people believe.

"I'm not alarmed by it," he declared, giving his permission for direct quotation. "I'm sure we'll work out of it."

The chief executive's hopefulness was echoed by two important figures on Capitol Hill, although diplomatic officials remained apprehensive over ultimate Soviet intentions in the Iran area.

Senate Majority Leader Barkley (KY) commented "it has been my opinion all along that the situation isn't as bad as the headlines would seem to indicate."

And Senator Pepper (D-Fla) told reporters. "I think entirely too much emphasis has been laid on the bad side of the international situation. I think people who do so are rendering a public disservice.

"There is no more reason for Russia and the United States to go to war than there would be for Florida to declare war on Georgia."

Sensitive to the current drift of foreign affairs, the house leadership sought quietly meanwhile to stem the flood of members' speeches rapping Russia and other wartime Allies. The time is not appropriate, one of these leaders told a reporter privately, for "Russia-baiting."

Some lawmakers, too, crossed their fingers on what might develop in the speech Winston Churchill makes tonight in New York.

There was considerable speculation over the reasons behind the decision of Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson to cancel his plans for attending the dinner in honor of the former British prime minister.

North Carolina Woman Notes No Taxes Due

Greensboro, N. C., March 15—(AP)—The U. S. Collector of Internal Revenue here received an income tax return from a North Carolina woman showing, correctly, that she owed no tax.

Accompanying it was a check made out for "no dollars and no cents," with a notation "no tax due" in the lower left corner.

Food Economy Program To Feed Starving

Atlantic City, March 15—(AP)—President Truman, hailing UNRRA's work as evidence that "cooperation for peaceful ends is possible," pledged today that America's full aid would be mustered to feed the starving millions of areas freed from war—but not from hunger.

Tersely, he declared in a poignant message to UNRRA's fourth international council that "in this country, our efforts are now solidly behind an emergency food program intended to release as large as possible a proportion of our food supplies for export to the starving peoples of the world."

Delegates convened today in an atmosphere of luxury to find ways and means of succoring the world's hungry millions.

Here in this fashionable seaside resort city, representatives of 47 nations sipped oyster stew, munched roast beef and sampled rich ice cream on the eve of the meeting.

Beneath the potted palms, delegates and staff members gathered last evening to discuss the problems ahead—among them where to find a job when UNRRA expires after another 16 months.

BULLETINS

Washington, March 15—(AP)—A Russian communication delivered to Secretary of State Byrnes today by Nikolai V. Novikov, Soviet charge d'affaires, dealt with economic and commercial matters and had nothing whatever to do with the American notes on Iran and Manchuria, the state department said.

Greensburg, March 15—(AP)—James H. Coffman, of Blacklick, Indiana county, an attendant at Torrance State Hospital, today was sentenced by Judge George H. McWherter to 18 months in jail for assault, battery and aggravated assault on a hospital patient. Coffman had pleaded guilty.

Harrisburg, March 15—(AP)—The Dauphin county court, declaring its duty "to interpret and apply the law and not to usurp legislative functions," has ruled electric cooperatives are exempt from the Pennsylvania public utility law.

Philadelphia, March 15—(AP)—Shipping in the port of Philadelphia remained at a virtual standstill for the third straight day today as a federal conciliator sought to bring spokesmen for eight tugboat companies and 160 striking AFL workers together.

Washington, March 15—(AP)—Influential Republican legislators were reported lining up today behind Rep. Carroll Reece of Tennessee to succeed Herbert Brownell, Jr., as GOP national committee chairman.

Washington, March 15—(AP)—With nearly 1,500,000 veterans drawing unemployment pay, President Truman has asked employers everywhere to list their job openings with the U. S. Employment Service at once.

Few Foremen Cross Lines In Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, March 15—(AP)—The Westinghouse Electric Corp., acting under an injunction prohibiting striking workers from mass picketing at its big East Pittsburgh works, called several hundred foremen back to their jobs today but only a few crossed picket lines and entered the plant.

Pickets circled in two groups in front of the main gate while a crowd of onlookers, mostly strikers, filled the street corners. A speaker from the CIO United Electrical Workers, talking over a public address system, urged workers not to cross the picket lines.

Newsmen saw only two foremen pass into the plant at the main gate where two policemen were on duty. Other gates also were picketed.

Two supervisory workers tried to enter but the picket lines closed up quickly while the crowd booed.

A Westinghouse spokesman said supervisory employes had been instructed not to try to enter if it appeared violence would be involved.

The East Pittsburgh works employs more than 16,000 of the 75,000 Westinghouse workers on strike for higher wages.

Previously a company spokesman said another 6,000 employes, mostly "white collar" workers, would be summoned to return to their jobs within the next week.

Westinghouse said it was recalling the workers to do "preliminary engineering, designing and estimating work on some $800,000,000 worth of actual or potential business that has been held up by the strike. This preliminary work is necessary to prepare orders for eventual manufacturing operations once the strike ends."

Workers Voting On New GM Contract

Detroit, March 15—(AP)—The 200-man General Motors Council of the CIO United Auto Workers gathered here today to vote on the settlement of the 113-day GM strike reached Wednesday.

Quick approval for the 18½ cent hourly wage increase and other contract agreements was expected from the council by top union officials who signed the contract after a marathon negotiating session with GM representatives.

UAM locals in 50 cities, scheduled to get the contract for a vote after the council makes its decision, prepared to poll the 175,000 GM strikers Sunday on the agreement. Both General Motors and union sources agree the workers can return to the plants sometime next week if their vote is favorable.

Beginnings of the back-to-work movement were already underway at the GM Oldsmobile plant in Lansing, where some maintenance men and tool workers went back yesterday to prepare for production employes' return.

Erie Strikers To Hold Mass Meeting

Erie, March 15.—(AP)—An outdoor mass meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon at Erie Stadium by approximately 6,000 union employes of the General Electric Co. plant here who will vote on the strike settlement ratified yesterday by the conference board of the CIO-United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers.

Wage increases of 18½ cents an hour for 100,000 GE employes in 16 states is provided by the agreement between the negotiating committee and the company.

The conference board said it would recommend to membership of 60 locals involved that the agreement be approved.

Reichmarshal Denies Rifling Art Galleries

By WES GALLAGHER

Nuernberg, Mar. 15—(AP)—An angry Mermann Goering denied to the international military tribunal today that he was a looter of Europe's art galleries, declaring that he paid for all he received and was "cheated" in many of the deals.

Sadly, he testified that Hitler made him produce photographic copies of all confiscated art objects whose Jewish owners had fled. Hitler took first choice for the museum he planned at Linz, he said, and left Goering only "seconds".

Although the former reichsmarshal has freely admitted many prosecution statements concerning his part in Nazi Germany's aggressions, he showed indignation at French charges of his part in the rifling of Europe's art treasures, and went into great detail to explain his actions.

A large part of the morning was taken up with a legal argument on international law concerning reprisals when Goering attempted to explain how the actions of partisans, guerrillas and underground fighters on German soldiers provoked overt acts in many cases.

U. S. Prosecutor Robert H. Jackson sought limits of this line of evidence, but the court ordered all testimony to be taken with the proviso that a final decision will be made later on the legal aspect of the reprisal doctrine.

New Castle Murder Hearing In Recess

New Castle, March 15.—(AP)—The murder hearing of Irvin C. Herge was in recess today pending transcription of court testimony on details of the death of Jean Fatur, 20-year-old Ellwood City mill worker.

Herge, 43, and the father of three children, took the stand yesterday to declare Miss Fatur was fatally injured in a collision while riding in his car. Subsequently he asserted: "If I killed her, so help me God I didn't mean it."

As Herge had pleaded guilty to killing the young woman, Judge W. Walter Braham remarked it was "very unusual" for the defendant to present the claim of accidental death.

Judge Braham, who heard the testimony to determine the degree of guilt, said he would hear argument on points of law in the case before rendering a decision. Date of the argument will be set after the testimony is transcribed.

REP. GROSS COMMENTS ON VETERANS' MARCH

Washington, Mar. 15—(AP)—Taking note of a statement by Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr. that he and other veterans may march on Washington to protest housing shortages, Rep. Gross (R-Pa) told the house today:

"That's his privilege. "But I'll bet dollars to doughnuts that if the veterans march to Washington, Frankie will live in the Mayflower while the veterans will sleep in the park."

LEWIS HOLDS SPOTLIGHT IN NEGOTIATIONS

Chief of United Mine Workers Presses War of Nerves In Wage Contract Discussions

REFUSES TO TIP HAND

Washington, March 15.—(AP)—John L. Lewis pressed a war of nerves today in his negotiations for a new wage contract for his 400,000 soft coal miners.

The bushy-browed chief of the United Mine Workers still refused to tip his hand on what specific demands he wants operators to meet, but he insisted on more talk about what he calls unsatisfactory health and safety conditions prevailing in the industry.

Operators met the extended discourse with cries of "filibuster."

Charles O'Neill, chairman of the Bituminous Coal Operators Negotiation Committee, said that Lewis, without any actual bargaining, had consumed 20 per cent of the time available for negotiating a contract before the April 1 deadline on the present agreement.

Asking Lewis to "get down to business and make a contract," O'Neill deplored what he termed the "repetition" of the same speeches by various district presidents.

Lewis, with jutting chin, retorted: "That the operators consider it repetitious and boresome is a matter of no damned consequence to us at all."

"If you don't like it, don't stay," he told operators present.

Lewis said the discussion of health and medical service available to miners was "germane" to his demand for creation of a miner's health and welfare fund by the operators.

He insisted "the terrible conditions in the mining industry" described by the succession of district presidents were proper matters for discussion of the national wage conference.

"We expect you to join in reform, whether you like it or whether you don't like it," he said.

ARMY MAJOR SHOOTS PASSENGER ON TRAIN

Pittsburgh, March 15—(AP)—Aaron Russansky, 46-year-old Chicago buyer, was shot and seriously wounded on a train near Altoona today.

Supt. J. G. Sersch of the Pennsylvania Railroad police said the shot was fired by an army major who had been talking with a merchant sailor.

Sersch said the sailor, Alfred R. Quiry, 28, of Chicago, gave him this story:

"The major told me some of his experiences in Germany. Then he spoke some words in German.

"Suddenly he jumped up and pulled his gun. He fired one shot."

Lieut. Barton D. Robeson of the military police said the major identified himself as John B. Hamilton of New Jersey but declined to reveal his home town.

MAN GROUND TO DEATH IN A CEMENT MIXER

York, Mar. 15—(AP)—Austin Buckingham, 52, was ground to death today in a huge cement mixer at the plant of the York Products Company. His body was mangled by the big steel blades.

Coroner L. J. Sell, said that Buckingham was cleaning the mixer when the button which starts the motor used to operate the machine was pushed by Herbert Ambush. When he realized his mistake, Ambush collapsed and was unable to stop the motor. Bernard Z. Zeigler, another plant employe, rushed to the machine and stopped it.

CHARLEROI HAS FIRE IN DEPARTMENT STORE

Charleroi, March 15.—(AP)—The newly remodeled Collins Department Store—largest in this Washington county community—was heavily damaged by a three-alarm fire last night.

Leonard J. Collins, the owner who arrived home from New York to find the building in flames, estimated the loss at more than $50,000.

Firemen from Charleroi, Monessen, Belle Vernon and North Charleroi, battled the roaring flames for over an hour before bringing them under control.

Traffic in business streets was tied up for several hours.

HUNTED NAZI SUICIDES

Herford, Germany, Mar. 15—(AP)—Field Marshal Walter von Model, who had been hunted since his army was crushed in the Ruhr trap a year ago, took his own life with a revolver, British intelligence officers said today. They said he feared that if he surrendered to the western Allies he would be turned over to the Russians as a war criminal.

Washington Cherry Trees In Blossom

Washington, March 15—(AP)—The cherry trees around the tidal basin are showing their first blooms, somewhat to the surprise of park officials who hadn't expected them for another week.

Hurried along by warm weather, the first blossoms burst out five days ahead of the date of their first showing last year, which set a record. They were the single blossom variety. Park officials said most of them may be out over the week end if the weather remains warm; the prettier pink double blossoms about two weeks later.

The cherry trees, incidentally, were a gift from Japan, but Washingtonians have soft-pedaled that angle in recent years.

Millions Are Tardy Filing Tax Returns

Washington, March 15—(AP)—Millions of Americans—possibly 20,000,000 or more—must file tax returns by midnight tonight or face penalties.

A revenue bureau spokesman hazarded a "rought guess" that hardly more than half the approximately 50,000,000 individuals who must file returns on 1945 income did so before today.

Of those who did, however, 7,500,000 already have received refunds totaling more than $300,000,000—an average of $40 each—the bureau said, promising all refunds will be paid by July 4.

A minority of those yet to file before the midnight deadline—perhaps a fifth of them—must also file estimates of 1946 income. In general, these are:

1. Persons earning more than $5,000 in wages annually.

2. Wage-earners getting more than $100 in income from other sources.

3. Non-wage earners earning over $500 a year, who o not have taxes deducted under the withholding ing act.

Treasury figures show all income tax collections since the start of the year have been higher than last year, running around $6,300,000,000 so far this year against around $6,000,000,000 for the corresponding period of 1945.

Pittsburgh, Mar. 15—(AP)—The Internal Revenue Office here and branch offices in the 25 counties in the Pittsburgh area will be open until midnight to alw citizens to file their income tax returns by the deadline.

Branch offices include Erie, Johnstown, McKeesport, New Castle, New Kensington, Washington, Wilkinsburg, Aliquippa, Bradford, Butler, Greensburg, Oil City, Sharon and Uniontown.

OPA Officials Are Indicted In Probe

Pittsburgh, Mar. 15—(AP)—Nine persons, including four Pittsburgh OPA officials, were indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of violating sugar rationing regulations.

The officials indicted were Valentine G. Grunewald, executive in charge of the rationing division of the Pittsburgh district OPA; Neil Murray, district OPA accounting executive; Chester G. Jiles, assistant board management executive and Guy M. Keatley, in charge of the Pittsburgh mailing center.

Assistant District Attorney Geo. Mashank was given permission by the court to hold the warrants for one week to permit the defendants to post bonds.

The grand jury of twelve men and seven women had been in session since last week.

MONTREAL LABOR LEADER IS SAID TO HAVE TRANSMITTED WAR INFORMATION TO RUSSIA

By HARRY T. MONTGOMERY

Ottawa, March 15—(AP)—Canada accused a member of its parliament today of violating the official secrets act and charged four government scientific workers with transmitting confidential war secrets to Russia, including details of a super-explosive known as "RDX."

Fred Rose, known as the only Communist ever elected to the Canadian house of commons, was arrested after a parliament session last night and formally charged today. Rose belongs to the Labor Progressive party, which absorbed the Communist party when it was banned in wartime. The Montreal labor leader had held Communist offices in Canada and had spent six months in Russia, lecturing youth groups.

Supt. Josephat Brunet of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said in Montreal that charges against Rose "most definitely" were connected with the espionage case.

The royal commission, in a second interim report depicting Soviet agents as trying to ferret the war secrets of Canada and the United States, said Dr. Raymond Boyer, assistant professor of chemistry at McGill University, had admitted giving Russia full information on his secret work with "RDX."

The four persons previously accused were minor governmental workers, who were charged with working with the Moscow-directed espionage ring to obtain data on the atomic bomb, radar, electronics and the disposition of numerous United States corps and divisions which lately had fought the Germans. Five persons, other than the eight already named, still are under investigation.

"Some witnesses holding strategic positions have made the significant statement, under oath, that they had a loyalty which took priority over the loyalty owed by them to their own country and, for that reason, they acted as they did and would have continued so to act had they not been detected," the commission said.

Today's royal commission report elaborated on the general charges made public March 4, giving "spy thriller" details of operations under pseudonyms. The earlier report said the military attache of the Soviet embassy had sought to obtain secrets of the atomic bomb, radar, electronics and the whereabouts of numerous United States military units.

In addition to Boyer, the commission named these:

Harold Samuel Gerson, assistant to the head of the production control department of Allied War Supplies, Ltd., a government company concerned with the production of chemicals and explosives Gerson was known in the spy ring under the cover name of "Gray," the report said.

Marshall to Report On China Mission

Washington, March 15—(AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall, President Truman's special envoy to China, returned to the capital today and was summoned promptly to a White House conference.

The former chief of staff declined immediate comment on conditions in China, where he has spent the last three months in a role as peacemaker between Communist forces and Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist government.

The five star general smiled broadly when he sighted Mrs. Marshall in the large crowd gathered at the airport to welcome him. He swept her into his arms and kissed her.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Marshall's successor as chief of staff, Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson and several other high-ranking army and state department officials were in the crowd.

Churchill Is Given Ovation In New York

New York, March 15—(AP)—Winston Churchill put the finishing touches today to tonight's speech in which he is expected to reply to critics of his Fulton, Mo., address and possibly to Generalissimo Stalin's denunciation of him as a "warmonger."

But the former British prime minister clamped a complete news blackout on the speech's actual content, and a member of his staff said that the only copy of the talk in existence is the one Churchill will use in its actual delivery from 10:30 to 11 p. m. at an official city dinner.

The Greater New York CIO Council announced it would throw a cordon of pickets around the Waldorf-Astoria where Churchill will address 2,000 guests as the climax of a day-long city fete.

Police, meantime, put into effect elaborate protective measures. The hotel police detail was augmented to bring the total to 24 detectives and 52 uniformed policemen. Two detectives and a uniformed policeman now are stationed day and night outside Churchill's suite and three detectives are posted around the clock in the hotel package room, to inspect every package addressed to the Churchill party.

Occupying the dais with Churchill will be 42 foreign ambassadors and ministers to the United States and official representatives of the United Nations Organization.

The United States itself, however, will not be represented officially.

It still was not known whether Russia would be represented.

Wearing a black bowler hat and smoking his inevitable cigar, Churchill rode today through New York city's rain-swept streets to the cheers of thousands.

Umbrella-holding crowds lined the route of the former British prime minister who sat in an open automobile, second in a 10-car motorcade.

Churchill alternately pulled his hat down to shield him from the downpour then removed it to acknowledge shouts from crowds, in some places four persons deep.

Senecas Are Opposed To Kinzua Dam

Silver Creek, N. Y., Mar.—15—(AP)—Opposition to construction of a proposed dam on the Allegheny river at Kinzua, Pa., has been expressed in a resolution sent to the interior department by members of the Seneca Indian Nation.

Robert P. Galloway, attorney for the tribe, said today Cornelius Seneca, president of the nation, feared that his people might be expelled from their land gained in 1794 under terms of the Canandaigua treaty.

Galloway said the Indians feared the dam would back up Allegheny flood waters as far as Salamanca, thus inundating most of the tribe's Allegany and Cattaraugus reservations.

The resolution also claimed, said Galloway, that the dam was supported by Pittsburgh interests hoping that industries in that area could obtain chemically pure water to dilute the acids now flowing into the river from Pennsylvania streams.

BUSINESS INDEX IN DISTRICT SHOWS GAIN

Pittsburgh, March 15.—(AP)—Strong gains in steel production and in trade sent the business index of the University of Pittsburgh's bureau of business research up nearly 12 points last week to 174.9 percent of the 1935-39 average.

This is approximately the level maintained by the index from early 19143 to the middle of 1945, the bureau said.

Steel car loadings rose sharply. Coal shipments by rail fell slightly. Department store sales for the four weeks ended March 9 were 115.4 percent larger than for the same period last year.

British Mission To Discuss Self Government For India

London, March 15—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee told the house of commons today that if India chooses full independence from Britain "in our view she has the right to do so."

"It will be for us to help to make the transition as free and easy as possible," he declared during debate on the mission of three cabinet members who will go to India shortly to take up again the problem of self-government for India.

But, he said, "I hope the Indian people may elect to remain within the British commonwealth.

"If she does so elect," he added, "it must be by her own free will, for the British commonwealth and empire is not bound together by chains of external compulsion."

Attlee said that Britain, in making a final treaty with India, was not "going to hold out anything to our own advantage that would be to the disadvantage of India."

He said he thought India would "find great advantages" within the commonwealth and warned that "no great nation can stand alone today."

Attlee said the cabinet mission was going to India "in a positive mood."

The three cabinet members who compose the mission are Lord Pethick-Lawrence, secretary of state for India; Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the board of trade; and A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admidalty.

They will leave next Tuesday and are due in India March 23.

Sports Boosters and P. T. A. Council To Confer Next Week

A meeting which should be significant in the development of Warren's future sports and recreation picture will be held next Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the Y.W.C.A. The Community Council P.T.A. executive board and council and the officers and board of the recently organized Warren Sports Boosters Association will meet at that time to discuss community sports and recreation plans and facilities.

The Community Council P. T. A. applied in January for non-profit corporation papers for the purpose of accepting the Valvoline property offered by Albert Ristau for a war memorial recreation field. The extent of the P. T. A. Council's progress and purposes will be stated the first of the week in the Warren Times-Mirror.

The intention of the P. T. A. Council was to save the property so the land could be utilized effectively, with long range planning in mind, for athletic and recreation purposes.

The Warren Sports Boosters Association has been organized this winter to promote sports in Warren and is now making a drive for members. It has gone on record as being willing to back any well-founded effort to provide an athletic field for Warren and also has a War Memorial Committee. It is also cooperating with the Warren Moose in its plans to sponsor a junior baseball team and has both baseball and football committees.

The meeting is being arranged for a better understanding of the objectives and ideas of both organizations in the common interest of community improvement in sports and recreation planning.

Refuse Getter Demonstrated Here Today

Much attention was attracted today to a new garbage collecting truck which is known as the "Refuse Getter". The truck is of odd shape and at the rear is a tray into which the refuse carried out in garbage pails is emptied. When filled it is hoisted to the top of the machine, dumped inside and then is compacted by a device which allows the truck to crrry twice what an ordinary truck contains.

The machine is being demonstrated here today for the Valentine Company and it is stated that the firm anticipates putting the machines in use in this city. However a final decision is yet to be made following a conference with local officials.

The Russians Have Been Here

This exclusive photo is one of those pictures that tells "better than a thousand words" how the Russians in Manchuria have stripped Japanese and other factories of machinery and material usable in the USSR's huge industrial recovery program. Taken by Harlow Church, NEA-Acme correspondent, it shows wall of the Teh Ho weaving and dyeing plant in Mukden, Manchuria, blasted out to facilitate removal of machinery, and beyond the wall—emptiness.

Company Pays Damage Claim In Settlement

The Office of Price Administration here today accepted $3092.04 paid by the Youngsville Star Manufacturing Company of Youngsville, in settlement of a damage claim for overcharges made during the past year by the company in the manufacture and the sale of furniture.

The company had violated OPA ceiling prices by erroneously charging for certain items prices which appeared on its March 1942 base period for deliveries made during the base period.

OPA points out that furniture manufacturers who used March 1942 list prices instead of March 1942 actual sales prices in establishing ceiling prices for items of furniture are in violation of the regulations and should take the proper steps to correct the error.

THE SPORTS BOOSTERS ASSOCIATION

We believe due note should be taken of Warren's newest group of public-spirited men who are fast making the Sports Boosters Association a well-knit organization which can go far in developing competitive athletics in this community and this county.

Their aims are to provide a year-long sports program, to encourage youths to take up sports, to see that these same youths are properly coached in fundamentals, to boost adequate facilities for baseball, football, swimming and other sports and to encourage any worth-while sports activity, whether it be under their sponsorship or not.

Certainly, all of us—whether we are sports fans or not—can give wholehearted support to those aims.

Our information is that these men—who will soon number a thousand and represent a fair cross-section of this county—are going about achieving their purposes in a common-sense manner. They have no illusions that their aims can be accomplished over-night and if their enthusiasm continues at its present rate, it is probable that the whole section will eventually reap the benefits of their labor. We understand that these men propose to develop a program which fits Warren and Warren county and that they are being careful not to start out with a big noise which will die down to a whisper.

We are especially interested in the meeting of sons and dads from the Conewango avenue district, held earlier this week. At that meeting, some 30 or 35 boys and their fathers turned out to organize a junior baseball team which will be entered in a league of teams from various sections of Warren and perhaps from Sheffield and Youngsville. North Warren has already made plans for its entrant in this league.

This is a good, healthy sign of a return to normalcy. Interest of boys in baseball and the interest of dads in their boys are as American as hot dogs and the Fourth of July."

We wish to commend the Sports Boosters Association for sponsoring this program, and we must, at the same time, also commend the local Moose Lodge for its sponsorship of a Warren team in the Moose Junior Baseball League. The latter team will be made up of the cream of the county circuit.

Yes, we believe the Sports Boosters Association is on the right track and we will watch with interest its growth, especially during this week of its first membership drive, and its progress toward the goal it has set.

ST. PATRICK'S RETURN

St. Patrick must have been an engineer because he did the impossible in driving the snakes out of Ireland, says Pathfinder Magazine.

That's a joke, son. But it's why the Missouri School of Mines & Metallurgy made St. Patrick its patron saint in 1908, and why St. Patrick's Day is the biggest date in the year on the Rolla, Mo., campus.

This March 17 weekend—for the first time in Rolla since 1941—visitors will again flock to the little college town 115 miles down U. S. 66 from St. Louis. The good Saint himself, in mitre and robes, arrived this morning at Frisco station riding a handcar pushed by spears of two pantalooned guards.

Parading to the school auditorium in his traditional "chariot" (a manurespreader drawn by Missouri mules), he tells the throng all the "dirt" dug up about seniors and teachers. Then each senior kisses the "Blarney stone," receives a "shingle" and knighthood from St. Pat.

Tonight comes a costume ball, where St. Patrick crowns his queen at midnight. Saturday brings more dances.

Fathers of present-day "Miners" chuckle at the turnout for festivities. They remember that first St. Pat's day, when preparations were made in the dark of night, when cautious handbills announced the novel program, and students and townsfolk turned up trembling at the station to greet the first St. Pat.

The 1908 holiday, they recall, came as a shock to the Missouri faculty.

It's the Warren Dragons vs. the Sharpsville Blue Devils on the Farrell high school court this evening in the final battle for the District 10 title for 1945-46, and everything points to a victory for the Blue and White—we hope.

A treat is in store for Bradford music lovers when the combined Dragon-Owls bands appear in the first of two concerts scheduled between the schools. Next Friday evening a similar program will be played at Beaty school. Sounds interesting.

LENTEN SERMONETTE

By REV. EARL W. CARLSON
Youngsville

"And when they had sung a hymn, they went out to the Mount of Olives."—Mark 14:26.

Can you remember any instances in your life when you sang to keep up your courage? I can. Somehow singing seemed to take our minds off the possibilities of danger, and made it attend to things more instructive.

We often delight in the story of Daniel in the lions' den, but did you ever take special thought of the fact that he was singing when the king found him that morning? You remember Paul and Silas singing in jail. Don't you think that their singing helped them to keep up courage?

It seems significant, too, that in that most critical night when Jesus was betrayed, the last thing they did before going to the Garden of Gethsemane was to sing a hymn. The hymn must have left a lasting impression on the disciples, for this is the only time that the writers of the Gospels deem it necessary to mention hymn singing in connection with a meeting of Jesus and His disciples. This should point out to us the importance of having a song in our hearts during critical and trying times.

Lent brings us the great message of LIFE. This LIFE demands our utter devotion, not only now during Lent, but throughout the year. We shall discover that if we have a hymn on our lips and in our hearts, we shall receive courage, strength and comfort from the Christ we worship and adore.

Safecrackers Work Towns Of Vicinity

State and local authorities have been at work on the burglary of the Grand Valley postoffice and as yet have hit no clue that will enable them to arrest the perpetrators. Titusville police are also at sea on the robbery of the safe of the Advance Cleaners at that place on the same night as the Grand Valley burglary.

Authorities are of the belief that one gang is responsible for the whole series of safecrackings that have been reported from many towns in this section and have issued a warning to merchants not to leave large sums of money in their safes overnight. Meadville and several other towns have reported breaking open of safes.

It is thought that the gang may have headquarters in Erie which has become a nest of gangsters, etc., during the past few months. Several rings of various sorts are said to be working out of Erie and a drive may be made to clean up the element which recently staged a real gangster murder in Erie.

Fine Program For I. O. O. F. Session Here

The committee in charge reports that plans are progressing nicely for the big meeting of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows to be held here next Tuesday evening with a dinner in the temple at six o'clock, grand lodge session at seven and meeting and program for the public in the court house at eight.

The meeting will be attended by Grand Master Franklin B. Hosbaugh, of Erie, and five other grand lodge officers. Mr. Hosbaugh will be the principal speaker at the court house. This meeting will be preceded by an hour's entertainment which will include numbers by the New Process girls' chorus and quartet; numbers by the clarinet trio of the high school band as well as a cornet solo; vocal selections by Chester Sadler, of Sheffield and readings by Carl Johnson, of the North Warren school. The Honorable Allison D. Wade will officially welcome the visitors at the meeting which will be held in conjunction with the entertainment.

The committee expects about eighty for the dinner to be held in the temple at six o'clock, which will include representatives of most of the Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges in the county.

UNION TO MEET

Local 1328 of the International Association of Machinists wil hold a meeting Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock on the second floor of the Marconi Club, on Pennsylvania avenue.

BASKETS ON SALE

For the first time in many months Indians are in the city today with a display of handmade baskets. The display is made at the Warren National Bank building and many of the baskets are really works of art.

PLANNING MEETING

The Cornplanter District is holding a wardens meeting at Pittsfield, March 27, at 7:30. Dinner will be served and discussions will be enjoyed and movies shown. Notices have been sent out and it is expected that a large turnout of wardens and others interested will be present.

PLANS MEETING

The Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association will hold its 23rd annual meeting at the William Penn Hotel in Pittsburgh, June 27 and 28. It is expected that several from Warren will be in attendance. Abatement of stream pollution will be one of the topics discussed.

TROUT ESCAPED

A break in an oil line which was not repaired for two hours allowed a large quantity of crude oil to run into the west branch of the Clarion river this week. Oil coated the surface of the stream and it was feared trout would be killed but sportsmen report that the trout escaped harm. The break in the oil line took place near East Kane.

GEESE FLYING NORTH

Several reports have come in from various parts of the county of wild geese flying northward. Their honking awakened persons and from all indications the flocks were large. Farmers are worrying about the warm weather advancing fruits and crops and are hopeful that a change will bring more seasonable weather and keep crops from being ruined by frosts.

ONE DRUNK

One drunk who grew tired as he perigrinated from one bar to another laid himself down to rest in Times Square last night. He was promptly hauled to the police station and stretched out on one of the modern sleeping boards in a cell. Officers also took a man to the hospital last night after he had been taken ill in a car parked near one of the local diners. A physician ordered him to undergo a blood count.

DOG FANCIERS TO ORGANIZE

Sunday evening at 7:30 the Warren Beagle Club wil hold a meeting on the second floor of the Marconi Club, Pennsylvania avenue, west. The club is newly formed and is composed of fanciers of the famed hound dogs. Officers are expected to be elected. The club has recently arranged for a training ground for their dogs in Lovers Lane and plans for its conduct will also be discussed.

DRIVE STILL ON

The drive against traffic violators by the local police is still underway and will continue. Last night one more arest was made from running through a red light on a traffic signal. The fellow arrested had been warned about this practice three days ago. Motor car drivers will do well to adjust their speed in conformity with the borough ordinances as the fine for speeding is a heavy one. Failure to halt at "stop" signs is also rewarding the police with a crop of arrests.

PREPARING FOR ACCIDENTS

With the season approaching when accidents on the river might take place firemen at the Central station are preparing the rescue equipment. The trailer on which the boat is carried has been painted and new tires placed upon it and the boat is being overhauled and painted in readiness for quick use. Kapok vests and other equipment will be placed in the boat as soon as it is ready and the trailer placed where it can be hooked to the emergency truck for a fast run. An inhalator is carried in the emergency truck.

LIFE SAVING CLASSES

American Red Cross Life Saving and Water Safety Classes are starting this evening at the YMCA at eight o'clock. These classes are open to any boy or girl from 12 years of age up to 17 who can swim ⅛ of a mile, and any man or woman who can swim ¼ of a mile. The Red Cross swimming instructors are especially interested in not only getting new junior and senior life savers, but also there are many who have taken this course several years in the past and whose cards have expired. These persons we urge to take a refresher course and once again become accustomed to the Water Safety Practices.

Will Give Aid To Persons In Remodeling

The Housing Committee of the Warren Chamber of Commerce met here yesterday with Frank S. Anderson, area rent director to determine if there were ways possible to expedite applications for remodeling and reconversion of present homes to provide additional appartments and living quarters for service men and others.

There has been some uncertainty as to cost of remodeling and further uncertainty over rents, however it was brought out in the meeting that there has been an increase during the past few weeks of conversion and remodeling jobs because of availability of building materials, plumbing and kitchen equipment.

In order to encourage construction and remodeling the rent regulations have been amended to provide for an appropriate allowance over and above comparable rents to compensate for the general increase in cost of construction and those planning to remodel their homes, it was brought out by Mr. Anderson, that if a sketch or plan of the work to be done be submitted to the OPA office at Warren, an opinion as to the amount of rent allowed will be given in advance.

Ridgway Male Chorus Sing For Meeting

Ridgway Male Chorus inspired t. Paul's Brotherhood members hursday evening at their month- meeting at the church, provid- g song messages that stimulat- d thoughtful, serious considerat- on of the Lenten season, so nec- ssary today when men and nat- ons are aggressive self-seekers, gnoring flagrantly the admonition nd example of Christ for individ- al sacrifice.

Harry Benson, director of the horus, has developed a group of alented, well trained male voices hat senses the responsibility of ringing a message in song. Miss Genevieve Benson, daughter of the director, acted as accompanist.

Rev. H. W. Lindeen, pastor of he Ridgway church, brought a enten thought on "The Mind of Christ", stressing two great pres- nt needs: To "know thyself bet- er", which compels us to "know God better", and emphasizing the act that the Lenten season is par- icularly a time for meditation and thought.

Rev. Nore Gustafson, local pas- or, emphasized in his remarks ow "knowing ourselves brings us closer to Christ, which is the need of every individual and the only way to obtain a perfect peace". Mr. Gustafson closed the meeting with pronouncement of the bene- diction.

Lawrence Johnson, vice presi- dent of the Brotherhood, presided at the business meeting which pre- ceded arrival of the Ridgway group.

A session of pleasant fellowship followed the program, with re- freshments served by a committee of which C. J. G. Johnson was chairman.

Orchids to Contralto

ON TUESDAY EVENING the Senior Choir of First Presby- terian church presented Jean Browning, contralto of New York City, to a select and very appreciative audience. The lovely con- cert and opera star is being acclaimed by critics as the most promising contralto in America. Those who heard her here predict a brilliant career.

Tuesday's recital was not just another concert; it was an experience! Something seemed to reach out to the listener and very definitely establish the mood of each song.

Miss Browning has an unusual voice and she knows how to use it; it is dark, and smooth throughout its remarkable range; the lower register is rich, and the upper is notably brilliant.

Each of the numbers seemed to come to life under the mas- tery of her interpretation. After a cold beginning with the un- familiar Handel aria "Si, tra i ceppi", to which the audience seemed unresponsive, the program gained momentum until they were cheering and demanding encore after encore.

The aria from "Ohpheus" revealed a touching tenderness in her tone. The Brahms group was well suited to Miss Browning's voice, and showed an excellent understanding of the lieder style. The Spanish songs demonstrated the contralto's flare for the dramatic. A well-chosen English group rounded out the program.

Jackson Barrell again proved his fine musicianship and sense of timing in the admirable accompaniments. This proved truly "The Musical Event" of the season in Warren.

Messengers to Run Errands Available

Messengers to run the nation's errands are available again, O. J. Smith, local manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company stated today in announcing resumption of errand service by telegraph messengers.

Messenger errand service was suspended by the company after the outbreak of the war in order to concentrate the use of its forces and facilities on the speedy movement of the unprecedented volume of vital war messages.

"In keeping with the Nation's reconversion activities, it has been the telegraph company's aim to reinstate as rapidly as conditions permitted this collateral service, for which there is a substantial public demand," Mr. Smith stated. "Effective today patrons may call on us to furnish messengers to deliver packages and letters and to perform other tasks for which a messenger may be used."

Chapter 5

NO cousin Miler appeared that night. She and Aunt Emma and Uncle Peter sat down to a very poor and insufficient dinner. Aunt Emma seemed distrait, and directly they had finished she said "good-night" and went upstairs.

"What about a little game of cards?" asked Uncle Peter.

She had no desire to spend the evening shut up in her room, so she accepted willingly. But first she went upstairs, filled in the blank in Mrs. Frick's letter with the address, put the tiny watch into the envelope, sealed it and slipped it under a corner of the bureau-scarf. Then she returned to Uncle Peter. They sat in the lounge and played, but all the time Di was thinking to herself:

"Tomorrow evening, I shan't be here. This is the end."

Later, he made no offer to go upstairs with her, but stood at the foot of the stairs until she had reached the top.

"Night!" he called. "Sleep well!"

"I don't know what excuse I can possibly make," she thought the next morning. "Or how I can get to New York, but I'm going."

Pale, unusually serious, she went down the stairs. And there in the lounge she saw a tall, fair-haired young man, smoking a cigarette. When he caught sight of her, he rose.

"Good God!" he said, staring at her. "You're not this Diana, are you?"

"That's me!' she answered. "Are you Miles?"

He held out his hand, and when she gave him hers, he kept it in a firm clasp.

She liked him at once. His young face was a little haggard, his blue eyes looked tired, but there was about him a debonair good humor that immediately attracted her.

"When did you get here?' she asked, trying to pull away her hand.

"This morning," he answered and held her hand still tighter.

A silent struggle ensued, in the course of which she freed herself.

"You must have got up pretty early," she observed.

"Doesn't necessarily follow," he said. "Perhaps I just stayed up."

She could believe that: there were unmistakable marks of dissipation in his handsome face, and she was sorry.

"What are you, when you're not here?"

"I was a sort of secretary," she answered, "to Mrs. Herbert—"

"Not Angelina?"

"Yes!" she said, eagerly. "Do you know her?"

"I know the fellow she's just married. Porter Blessington."

"Did you ever meet —?" she was beginning when Aunt Emma appeared. Her plump face, framed by her short gray hair, was rosy and wholesome, and very kindly in its expression this morning.

"Good-morning, Diana!" she said. "Did you sleep well? We'll have breakfast now, Miles—"

"She's evidently seen Miles before this morning," thought Di.

Could it have been Miles who had been carried into the house last night?

"I'm an early riser," said Aunt Emma. "I've had my breakfast, long ago. It occurred to me that it might be advisable to talk to you a little about your Uncle Rufus's work. You seemed to find his book—difficult. So I propose to give you an elementary survey."

For the first time, Diana began to understand Uncle Peter's description of his sister as a "remarkable woman." All the time the girl was eating, her aunt went on, in her pleasant, assured voice: she never once hesitated for a word, she made of a very dry subject a thing of interest, by her perfect clarity.

"Now!" she said. "Is it clearer?"

"Much!" said Di, respectfully.

"I suggest," said Aunt Emma, "that you look over your Uncle Rufus's book again. He will appreciate it, if you are able to talk to him intelligently about it."

DI didn't know how the morning passed so quickly. It was Miles who had made this change possible. His coming had altered everything; the atmosphere of the house was different now, not lonely and "queer," but cheerful and interesting.

After lunch, Miles began to get restless.

"See here!" he said, abruptly. "Like to take a drive this afternoon, Diana?"

"Oh!" she began, and stopped, glancing toward her aunt. "I'm hoping I can help Aunt Emma—"

"There's nothing of vital importance," said Aunt Emma. "A few hours in the open air will be good for you."

Miles pushed back his chair and rose.

"All right! Get your hat and coat, and I'll bring the car around."

She ran up the stairs, and was down again in five minutes. The car was standing before the house, the same car in which Uncle Peter had driven her down.

"You didn't waste any time!" she said.

"I want to get away from this house!" he said, vehemently. "Hop in!"

"I'd like to stop somewhere and telephone—"

"All right!' he interrupted. "Get in!"

As soon as she was seated, he started the car with a jerk: before they were out of sight of the house she realized that he was a poor driver, nervous and careless.

"I'm so worried," he said. "Lord! You'd think I was a criminal — simply because I'm not much good at business."

"It's Uncle Rufus's fault," he went on. "He's been bent on making a satisfactory heir out of me. He's made me try all the things that appeal to him."

"What would you like to be?" she asked.

"I'll never be anything now—but a failure," said Miles.

"I think people can be pretty much what they want," she said.

"I'm twenty-seven," he said. "And a rotten failure. There's not one living soul who cares about me."

Chapter 6

"YOU'LL see for yourself tonight—"

"Tonight?"

"Didn't they tell you he's coming tonight?"

"No," she answered startled.

Once more the very unpleasant motion assailed her that she was in a net, entangled there by a hundred invisible threads.

"Miles!" she said, with a sort of haste. "I want to telephone. Stop somewhere, will you?"

"All right!" he said. "On the way back."

He turned up a lane, and stopped the car by the roadside.

"Uncle Rufus comes out every few months," he said, "to see if anyone's improved enough for him to alter his will. At present, everything's to go to some society he belongs to. Of course, the idea is, that you'll make a hit with him—"

"I?"

"He liked your mother," said Miles.

"Did you ever see my mother, Miles?" she asked.

"When I was a kid. I don't remember very well, but I think she was like you."

She turned toward him, eagerly. And was disconcerted to see him taking a flask out of his overcoat pocket.

"You ought to make a hit with the old boy," he said. "Or with anyone."

"Ah! You don't know me!" said Di. "Let's get along now, Miles, so that I can telephone."

"Diana!" he said. "The first moment I saw you—"

"Please, Miles, don't spoil everything!" she said, in distress. Then he grew angry and bitter.

"You're like everyone one," he said.

"All right!" said Di. "Let's not argue now. Let's get along—"

"You won't even listen to me!" he said. "You won't even give me a chance!"

"I can't help listening to you," said Di.

"Diana!" he cried. "I've talked like a brute to you. Can you forgive me?"

"Of course!" she said. "Just forget about it."

He started the car and turned home; all the way he was respectful, courteous, almost humble in his anxiety to please her, and she responded good-humoredly, but with an effort. She was glad to see a light in an upper window of The Châlet, glad even to get back there.

He stopped the car, and helped her out. It was not until then that she remembered the telephone-call she had wanted to make.

"Well, tomorrow, then!" she thought, with a sigh. "I wonder if Wren has posted that letter? If he has, I might get an answer tomorrow."

SHE pushed open the front door and entered the dark, twilight-filled room. A crack of light shone through the sliding-doors into the dining-room and she thought she heard someone moving in there.

Di crossed to the doors but push as she might they would not open. Behind her a chair creaked loudly; too loudly; she heard something like a stifled sigh.

She sprang back, groped for a lamp and pulled the chain. As the light came on she saw, in a corner, a strange huddled little figure staring at her.

It was a man with a checked cap pulled far down on his forehead, and wearing an overcoat and muffler. He had barricaded himself behind several chairs.

"Who—are you?" she asked unsteadily.

"You must be Diana," he said. "I'm your father's uncle. Why should you be nervous—if you have a good conscience?"

"I'm not nervous," she said briefly.

"You are," he said. "You were in a panic, trying to open that door. . . . Stand nearer the lamp," he commanded. "You're like your mother's people . . . Hmm, good sound stock."

The mention of her mother startled Di.

"Yes," he said. "She was a good girl. A kind, good girl . . . fond of her."

She was silent, not able to speak just then.

"She was kind to me . . . not like the rest of 'em . . . come nearer!"

She approached, stood before him, looking down at him. But in his corner, with his cap pulled over his brow, she could see little of his face.

"I'm alone," he said. "All alone. I'm old, and I'm rich. Everyone wants me to die, so that they can get my money. There isn't a soul in this house who doesn't want to see me dead."

"Oh, no!" she protested, dismayed.

"It's true, my girl," he said, grimly. "Every one of 'em. But I take my precautions!"

"I don't—" she began.

"There isn't one of 'em I'd like to meet on the stairs in the dark, if I had any money in my pocket."

"Oh, don't!" she cried, appalled. "Don't think things like that!"

He chuckled, then grew somber.

"See here, my girl!" he said. "I'm going to stay here a week. You be my ally for this week, and you won't regret it."

"I'm ever so sorry," she said, "but I'm afraid—"

"But you'll stay?" he persisted, still whispering. "You're young. You can spare one week. You'll be well rewarded. One week, that's all."

She hesitated, doubtful and unhappy. The thought of another week in this house was intolerable, yet still more intolerable was the idea of refusing this miserable, futile old creature.

"Your mother was a kind, good girl—" he said.

"All right, I'll stay," she said, quickly.

Local Delegates to National YWCA Convention Report On Highlights

Members and friends of the Y. W. C. A. will have an opportunity Monday evening to hear reports on the 17th National Y. W. C. A. convention. Mrs. Carl Lundahl president and Miss Mary Church, general secretary, attended the convention in Atlantic City March 2 through March 8. There had been no convention since 1940.

There were 2500 delegates present from community and student Y. W. C. A.'s throughout the United States. Delegates from other organizations and visitors made the attendance figure over 3000. Seven European countries, three Near East and African countries, five Far Eastern and six Latin American countries, in addition to Canada, were represented. Dr. Helen Kim of Korea was the first woman to leave that country and was flown to the United States by the Army and Navy in order that she might participate in the convention.

Six groups met outside of convention sessions to make their plans for the next triennium. These were the Student Assembly, the Industrial Assembly, the Business and Professional Assembly, a group working with and for Younger Girls, an Agricultural group and the Health Education group.

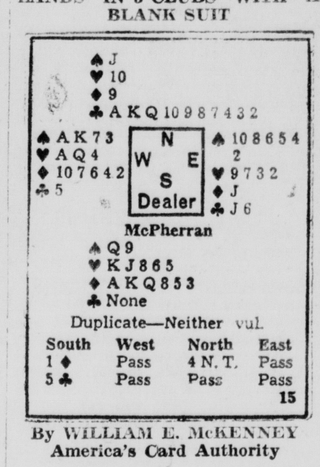

Some of the outstanding accomplishments of the convention were the adoption of the international charter for the Y. W. C. A. and the adoption of the public affairs program. The convention also endorsed proposals to raise $2,000,000 for a program of reconstruction of Y. W. C. A.'s in other countries and $500,000 for continuance and expansion of Y. W. C. A. work in the United States.

Outstanding speakers who addressed the convention were Dr. H. C. Urey of the University of Chicago; Dr. Joseph Hromadka of Princeton University; Dr. Lindsley Kimhball, president of USO; Dr. Benjamin Mays, president Morehouse College; Dr. Bryn J. Houde, president of the New School for Social Research; and Dr. Owen Lattimore, director of the Walter Hines Page School of International Relations. A surprise guest speaker was Dr. Arthur Compton.

Highlights of the convention will be presented by Mrs. Lundahl and Miss Church at the activities building Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock, following the monthly meeting of the YW board of directors. This will be an open meeting and all members are urged to come and hear what happens at a Y. W. C. A. national convention.

Robert M'Pherran, one of the Life Masters of the American Contract Bridge League, has just returned to civilian life after several years on the Army. Bobbie ran into an odd hand the other day. He elected to make the normal opening bid of one diamond, but when his partner jumped to four no trump, using Blackwood and asking for aces, Bobbie decided to put the brakes on the hand. He denied holding any aces with the response of five clubs.

When his partner passed, Bobbie nearly started a war of his own. A contract of five clubs without a club in his hand!

He changed his mind, however, when the dummy went down. Of course, West quickly cashed his two aces and held the contract to five clubs.

Every couple of weeks I have luncheon at the New York Athletic Club with Bert Lebhar and Lee Hazen, treasurer and counselor, respectively, of the American Contract Bridge League.

Every meeting is interrupted with a bridge hand. The one I am giving you today threatened to wreck the meeting at which it came up.

South bids one spade, West passes. What should North do with the cards shown?

The first thing I asked was, "Who is my partner?" and Lebhar said, "Waldemar von Zedtwitz."

In that case, I said, I might bid two hearts, but Hazen disagreed, insisting that I would have to bid one no trump because Zedtwitz is the lightest opening bidder in the world. Hazen said, however, that he would risk a two-heart bid if Lebhar were his partner.

We all agreed that if North bids two hearts and South bids two spades, North then should pass.

That is the way the bidding went when the hand was played. East and South then passed, but West doubled. East held all the adverse hearts and West held all the spades, so whether North and South stayed in spades or ran to three hearts, they went down about 1400.

There are a few experts who would pass with the North hand over South's one-spade bid, but the majority would be inclined to bid one no trump.

Sunday Notes For Episcopal Church

"Making God in Our Own Image" is the subject on which the rector of Trinity Memorial Episcopal church will preach at the 11:00 a. m. Sunday service, the second in a series of sermons, "Questions You Have Asked About Religion."

Other services will be the celebration of the Holy Communion at 8:00 a. m., at 9:45, church school. The new Cathedral picture, "A Voice in the Wilderness" will be shown, telling the story of John the Baptist, beginning with his birth and his early life in the desert as a preparation for his ministry. John's preaching at the Jordan attracts multitudes who come to hear him and to be baptized. Among those who come is Jesus of Nazareth. Herod, fearing a religious revolt, orders John seized and put in prison because of John's criticism of his unlawful marriage to Herodias. By cunning intrigue Herodias contrives to force Herod to behead John the Baptist. Thus ends the life of John and thus begins the ministry of Jesus Christ.

Upsala Choir Is Appearing Soon

The Girls' Choir of Upsala College, East Orange, N. J., will appear in concert at St. Paul's Lutheran church at 3:30 p. m. Sunday, March 31.

The choral group numbers 44 voices and is conducted by Miss Gladys Grindeland. The present tour will take the choir through Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and the District of Columbia.

With its supporting church body now celebrating the centennial of its organization, Upsala College is sponsoring the present tour as its contribution to the centennial "Life and Growth" program which this year emphasizes "Christian Higher Education."

Army Chaplain Will Be Special Speaker

Captain Willard Samuelson will be the main speaker at the Holy Week services at the Calvary Baptist church, April 14-21. Captain Samuelson will be discharged April 1 from the Army Air Force where he has served for over three years as chaplain.

Before enlisting, he served churches in the middle west, west coast, and the east. In his ministry, he has specialized in young people's work, and is considered an authority on young people's assemblies and camps.

The public is assured of some very interesting and challenging messages.

Commercial League

Commercial League action at the Penn last night saw Coe's Painters losing 3 to Petes Grill but still retaining a slim hold on first place.

Times Square closed in on the painters by knocking off Nation Wide for a 3 point win. Right behind the service boys came Chimenti's, who still held onto 3rd place although they were taken over by Rudolph's and Olsons made it a clean sweep over Penelec to keep themselves in the running.

With only 3 weeks to go it looks like anybody's ball game with any of the first five teams ready to jump into first pace. The winners will meet Pete's Grille, first half champs, for the league title.

Good totals for the evening: Rader 536, Fazio 545, Raleigh 542, Whiteshot 560, Fraring 540 and F. Baldy 530.

Singles And Doubles Start Today In ABC

Buffalo, N. Y., March 15—(AP)—The first singles and doubles and doubles competition of the American Bowling Congress' 43rd annual world championship tournament gets under way today, following the formal opening of the 62-day meet last night.

Four five-man shifts of 40 teams each go into action later in the day in an attempt to pass the score of 2,831 recorded by Wickline Motors teams of south and West Virginia on last night's second shift which finished two hours after midnight. The first shift consisted of booster teams.

Chester, Pa., holds the spotlight tonight when 29 Sun Oil teams from that city take to the alleys. The Sun Oil-sponsored teams including another from Chicago, comprise one of the largest delegations ever to attend the ABC tournament, with a total of 155 men.

They arrived in Buffalo early today aboard three special railroad cars. Two teams are scheduled to take part in the regular tourney, while the other 28 roll in the booster division.

Bradford, Jamestown Fives Cop Gold Medal Encounters; Games On Deck Again Tonite

Three teams who emerged victorious in the second night of activity in the YMCA Gold Medal Basketball tournament last night were classed by many followers as the "teams to beat."

Two quintets from Bradford and a third from Jamestown put on displays of excellent shooting and brilliant floorwork, which resulted in the elimination of three local teams from the tourney.

In the opener, the Jamestown Morton Club, paced by Ted Wybernac, sharpshooting guard who played here this season with the Semi-Pros, walloped the Times-Mirror, 51-24. The Mortons had little trouble in walking off with an easy victory.

An array of this season's Bradford High School stars and St. Bonaventure College performers teamed up in the second contest to hand the local Struthers Wells outfit a 59 to 16 drubbing. Ed Krause, starting center for this year's St. Bonas quint, hit the nets for 20 of his team's points, while Mose Ellis, high-scoring Bonas forward, nabbed ten. Struthers was handicapped from beginning to end.

A nucleus of the Bradford Owl cage team of 1942, whoch went as far as the western finals before being eliminated, formed the backbone of the Bradford All-Stars, who outpointed the O'Connors of Sheffield in the nine o'clock nightcap. Ray Colosimo, veteran Bradford sportsman, paced the All-Stars with 16, while "Dudy" Frisina added ten more to the victor's slate.

Tonight, the Sugar Grove American Legion and the Blomquist Furniture clash in the first of a double bill at 7:30. In the nightcap an hour later, the Sylvania Foresters of Emporium tangled with the Jamestown Vikings, who copped a second round tourney berth by nosing out the Mt. Jewett Vets Monday, 32-29. The tourney will continue next week, also.

Plan to Keep Soil Busy All Summer for Top Yield

Efficient Layout for Vegetable Garden of 1,200 Square Feet.

In a small garden, planned to produce an all season supply of each vegetable grown, and keep the land working without idle periods, an amazing quantity of fresh vegetables of high quality can be grown.

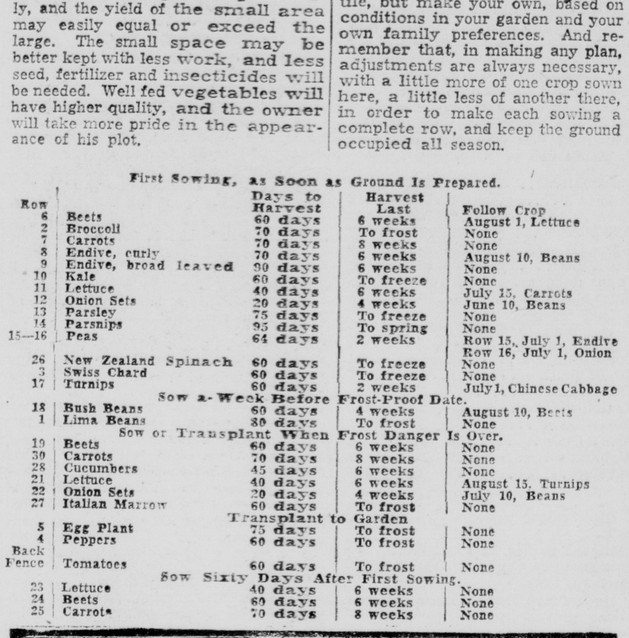

It is far more economical to cultivate efficiently a small plot, than to work twice the space haphazardly, and the yield of the small area may easily equal or exceed the large. The small space may be better kept with less work, and less seed, fertilizer and insecticides will be needed. Well fed vegetables will have higher quality, and the owner will take more pride in the appearance of his plot.

All this requires only careful planning; and that can be done in a few hours during an evening before the ground outside is dry enough to spade. A suggested schedule for a space 24x50 feet is given below, with a diagram of the area above.

Do not copy this plan and schedule, but make your own, based on conditions in your garden and your own family preferences. And remember that, in making any plan, adjustments are always necessary, with a little more of one crop sown here, a little less of another there, in order to make each sowing a complete row, and keep the ground occupied all season.

First Sowing, as Soon as Ground Is Prepared.

Lewis Holds Spotlight In Negotiations

(From Page One)

The mine leader has threatened to call a strike April 1 if a new contract has not been signed or an agreement reached to extend the present one.

The wage conference of operators and miners opened Tuesday and the UMW has held the floor ever since for presentation of Lewis's arguments in support of the nine general demands. The operators plan to reply when he completes his case.

The verbal clash between the union leader and the operator chairman occurred late yesterday. It climaxed a day of speechmaking and the reading by Lewis of "an indictment" in which he said the industry "had made dead" 28,000 mine workers in the last 14 years. He accused the industry of having "violently mangled, crushed, and shattered the bodies" of 1,004,000 other mine workers.

Plan to Keep Soil Busy All Summer for Top Yield

Efficient Layout for Vegetable Garden of 1,200 Square Feet.

In a small garden, planned to produce an all season supply of each vegetable grown, and keep the land working without idle periods, an amazing quantity of fresh vegetables of high quality can be grown.

It is far more economical to cultivate efficiently a small plot, than to work twice the space haphazardly, and the yield of the small area may easily equal or exceed the large. The small space may be better kept with less work, and less seed, fertilizer and insecticides will be needed. Well fed vegetables will have higher quality, and the owner will take more pride in the appearance of his plot.

All this requires only careful planning; and that can be done in a few hours during an evening before the ground outside is dry enough to spade. A suggested schedule for a space 24x50 feet is given below, with a diagram of the area above.

Do not copy this plan and schedule, but make your own, based on conditions in your garden and your own family preferences. And remember that, in making any plan, adjustments are always necessary, with a little more of one crop sown here, a little less of another there, in order to make each sowing a complete row, and keep the ground occupied all season.

First Sowing, as Soon as Ground Is Prepared.

Lewis Holds Spotlight In Negotiations

The mine leader has threatened to call a strike April 1 if a new contract has not been signed or an agreement reached to extend the present one.

The wage conference of operators and miners opened Tuesday and the UMW has held the floor ever since for presentation of Lewis's arguments in support of the nine general demands. The operators plan to reply when he completes his case.

The verbal clash between the union leader and the operator chairman occurred late yesterday. It climaxed a day of speechmaking and the reading by Lewis of "an indictment" in which he said the industry "had made dead" 28,000 mine workers in the last 14 years. He accused the industry of having "violently mangled, crushed, and shattered the bodies" of 1,004,000 other mine workers.

SCHOOL

Miss Mary Catherine Mathers presented the Freshmen Class in a play entitled "Foul Play at Brown's" on Friday morning in the school auditorium to an audience composed of students and interested spectators. Mrs. Emil Nelson, director of the Ludlow High School orchestra, and the orchestra members are sponsoring a cake-walk to be given on Friday evening, March 15th, in hte I. O. O. F. Hall to which everyone is invited. Plenty of fun is always enjoyed at the cake-walks. The proceeds of this particular project will be set aside for a radio to be used in the KDKA Radio School programs.

The supervised study course for veterans is creating a great deal of interest in Ludlow. Any ICS Course is free to qualified veterans and catalogue and pamphlets are available at the High School office concerning them. There were thirty men present at the meeting on Thursday night at which Mr. L. E. Johnson, Warren ICS representative, was present.

Ludlow High is still wearing laurels when they won the match at Wilcox on Friday evening. A large delegation from Ludlow attended and their enthusiasm knew no bounds when the score resulted in Ludlow—39 and Wilcox—30. Door prizes were offered and Clyde Gilfert won the 25 pound sack of flour. Ludlow High played Otto Township at the Otto Township Consolidated Schools on Tuesday evening of last week, winning the game at a close margin with a score of 36-34. Several cars of Ludlow fans accompanied the team and were overjoyed at the results, all of them telling of the good playing done by both sides. Everyone was excited about the Monday night play-off game for the Northern Tier League played at Kane between St. Marys and Ludlow with over 300 tickets sold in Ludlow. However Ludlow lost the game.
